

INSTITUTE OF COMPUTER TECHNOLOGY AND INFORMATION SECURITY

09.04.01 Informatics and computer engineering (program: IT-management)

Institute of Computer
Technology and Information
Security

Form of study: Full-time

Language of instruction: English

Training period: 2 years

Awarded qualifications: master

Director of the Program: phD, associated professor Yuriy Zachinyaev e-mail: yvzach@sfedu.ru

Advantage of the program:

Current direction (IT manager is in the top 5 leading IT professions in 2021 according to US News and World) Studying in English allows you to maintain a high level of language proficiency

The partners of the program are the existing IT companies of Taganrog

The program provides for the active use of e-learning elements in the implementation of disciplines.

Specialized courses:

Software requirements management
Risk management in IT-projects
IT-project management
Enterprise IT infrastructure
System integration and corporate information systems
Agile project management

Basic courses:

Psychology of personal resource management
Big Data technology
Cybersecurity
Software and Hardware for information systems
Professional and Academic Communication in Computer Science

Job prospects: As an IT manager, you have one of the top in-demand positions that industry, public sector, and government have to offer. Whether you deal with information management in a department or with data center management in a worldwide operating enterprise, this fascinating role gives you the chance to gain unique insights into almost any domain of international organizations. With their in-depth entrepreneurial and management skills, IT management postgraduates have excellent prospects in a wide range of careers, such as technology management, IT consulting, change or project management, and business analysis.

